Let’s cut to the chase: This 256-hp, 2.0L turbocharged engine puts the R in right foot.

You can’t fake fast.

You won’t find an oversized wing on the rear. Or flames on the side. That’s not what the Golf R is about. It’s about being fast. Real fast.™ What started with our legendary Golf has only gotten better and, well, faster. Because we had our best engineers burn a little midnight oil, along with a lot of rubber, to make our limited-run sport hatch run even harder. And be the fastest U.S. production car we’ve ever built.™ Guess we can all agree that the little R tells you everything you need to know. That’s the Power of German Engineering.
Think about your wish list for the perfect sport hatch. It would include an aggressive body kit. It would have track-ready 18-inch wheels wrapped in low-profile tires. And it would feature a shiny R badge and dual center exhaust in the back to give people behind you something to look at. Of course, it’s not technically a wish list if all your wishes are granted.

- R badging
- R body kit
- Unique 18-inch wheels
- Dual center exhaust
- Piano black exterior mirrors
- Rear hatch spoiler

Genuine VW accessories. The Golf R leaves the factory ready to hit the road, and pretty much own it too. But nothing should stop you from making your ride more ownable. Especially with such accessories as blacked-out wheels, side window deflectors, or customized MojoMat® floor mats. Because going fast never goes out of style.

*Always obey local speed and traffic laws.
There’s only one thing better than looking under the hood of this beast. That’s sitting in the driver’s seat. If you can take your hand off the shifter for a second, you’ll find available touchscreen navigation to help you locate the nearest long straightaway. Plus, an available 9-speaker Dynaudio® premium sound system to play some serious driving music. And R-badged top sport seats with leather seating surfaces that hug you as tightly as your Golf R hugs the asphalt.

*Feature available on some models.
